- I really liked the structure of the week (a lot of different things) → 7
- I liked to be creative while learning. →7
- I really liked how we mostly worked in groups, as this allowed me to develop my group skills more. →7
- I really liked how different teachers did lectures every day and how we worked with students from other countries as it allowed us to understand the education process in different countries – our own students in the future may not understand our education system and it will be beneficial for us as teachers to perhaps understand the previous system of this new student. →5
- I really liked the use of the d.school method. It helps me not to miss any steps in the process of a project. → 7
- I also liked the variety of activities during the week. I was never bored by anything, because there was a very good motion during the busy days. → 4
- I really liked the fact that we worked in international groups. You got a chance to get to learn more about the other countries and their culture. → 7
- I also liked the different steps we took, 'solving' the problem. It was easy to understand and it made finding an idea much easier. → 7
- I really enjoyed working with people from different countries. I learned a lot about different cultures. → 7
- I really liked being given a task and working towards a final solution. I found it rewarding today after achieving our goal which was to create an idea and present. Blog very useful. → 5
- I really liked to see the private school and their system, because they have a different way of approaching things. → 7
- I liked the d-thinking we have used the whole week. It is giving a structure, when you are looking at solutions. → 7
- De Bono helped us to come to a good solution! → 6
- First I had my doubts with all the creative thinking but at the end I've learned new ways to solve problems. → 6

Wishes

- I wish I had known more about the school – so I could have gone deeper into the problem → 7

- I wish we had had more time at the school and understand, how the school works and what they already have in place. Plus more time to interviews. Even perhaps to have been able to observe a class in progress. → 7
- I would like to have more time during the activities to talk to co-workers. So everyone knows what everyone's doing. It's better to get more information first before jumping into an idea → 7
- I wish we could learn more about, how the Turkish education system works. It would have made the learning experience this week much easier. → 7
- I found the first day tiring being in the same place, but we moved around for the rest of the week. It is important to be active in order to keep focused. (change location) → 7
- I wish we had some more cultural trips, because then we could understand the Turkish people better and the schools way of working. Now we had to find solutions for things we don't know enough of and we could be more concrete. → 7
- More practical information about the school, culture and education system. It would give you some different. It would give you some different perspectives which would be useful for coming up with ideas and solutions. → 7

- That we were mixed up and worked as an international team on the problem and solution. It was great! → 6
- To create maybe just a baby step to help a school like this, I'll hope there's really something we've made, that is a handle for them! → 6
- That the methods were introduced in small bits, one by one. → 6
- That we all worked on the same problem, but saw so different things though. → 5
- I liked the variation during the day: group work, individual work, creative work, lectures, inside/outside. →6
- I liked the group feeling and atmosphere during the workshops. →6
- This week has been very busy and I like the way it has been organized. First we got new ways of thinking and working in progress. It made sense to learn and hear about the theories first and then try working with it afterwards. → 7
- I like the group feeling and the way we are mixed between countries, because we have different ways of thinking and that can be inspiring. → 7
- Firstly, I want to say, that I am really happy that I can join this project. Because this project is a really important project for overcoming problems. Honestly, I like a lot of things, but I should choose just two (!) First one is, I really like teambuilding. → 7
- Second one is teachers helping. I think that they are really good teachers. I believe that they have got a lot of experiences. → 6
- I liked the method and the testing a lot, I'm certainly going to use it in my own teaching. → 6
- I like the blog writing, because you get the chance to overviewing your learning proces and actions. It helps me to grow as a person. → 2

- I really enjoyed the activities as they kept me going and interested in everything including the day I had three hours sleep. They have kept it fun. →2
- The mixed country groups. It is great fun to talk to each other. →3

Wishes

- The introduction of the students in the first evening. Because it's bringing the students closer from the beginning. → 6
- One early day, maybe :-) → 2
- More free time during the day to discover the city / place, where we are at the moment. I learnt about myself, that I like to discover more about the Turkish culture on my own by going outside and meet people to learn more about the private school's culture / the university campus. →2
- A little more time to work on your own would be nice → 3
- More free time during the day to discover the city / place, where we are at the moment. I learnt about myself, that I like to discover more about the Turkish culture on my own by going outside and meet people to learn more about the private school's culture / the university campus. →2
- I believe, that we could hang out together free time much more than first week :-)) → 5
- I would like to have a session / day about getting to know each other better: System (education), name games, games in general for group cohesion... → 6
- We were mixed around at dinner, so we speak / sit away from friends, so we can talk to everyone. → 1

- I enjoyed, that I learned new methods. We made teambuilding → 3
- It was nice to meet people from other countries. → 6
- I have enjoyed to be practically introduced to the different methods in use. They made the process of our work more goal-oriented. Ex. Writing, building / drawing :-) →7
- I liked the tangibility of our product-focus. To try to build, see and modify makes it easier to constructively criticize your process. It makes it easier to realize the pitfalls of your work and solution. :-) → 6
- I loved how active the programme was and how active the teachers were. → 6
- I loved doing the school project- the ability to come up with a solution for a school's problem and feeling like I am making a difference was truly amazing. →7
- The way we had to work in our groups and the time we got. → 7

- The way the school treats our solutions, they really were happy and enthusiastic about our presentations. → 7
- I really enjoy the cooperation with my group. Everyone has their own role in collaboration. Everybody is active and try to be creative. It's really easy to work with them. →8
- I like that I am forced to speak in front of the others. They are the audience and I am the speaker. It's good, that I can get everybody's attention for a few minutes. It improves my speaking skills, which will be useful in the future. → 3
- It was so nice to be in education. I really engaged. The learning style which I get in this program, is my dream for using for government schools in Turkey. We had a lot of ways to solve the problems. We learned to think with another head. I like to work with collaboration. It is including empathy. I would like to use the methods in my professional life. → 5
- On the other hand it is nice to be here because we saw other countries education systems about solving the problems. I liked the teachers, they are also so good with their work. I was hoping about the education will be so bad. They will try to tell something. But they were so nice. In my opinion it was good for me. →5
- I liked working together with students from other countries and disciplines, It broadend my view! → 8
- I liked the lessons on creative thinking. I will implant them in my lessons as well. → 6
- You work so hard with your group on your project and when it was finished, you were so proud. There were a lot of good workshops, they help us for our project. →7
- It's so nice to learn a lot of things from other countries. You learn so much of the other students. → 5

- %
- We are coming teachers and therefore it would be very helpful to be included in your thoughts on the process you have been going through, why you have chosen as you have, what you have learned, what you find important, where and how you see the methodology and touching and influencing the process for us, both as emphatic- and process-oriented management. → 6
- I wish my course at home was more like this programme and I wish there was a beach nearby to sunbathe and I wish there was a swimmingpool. → 7
- More energizers between lecturers. I really need something active after I sat an hour. It is really difficult to follow if I don't have an energetic break. (so not just coffee break, but play a little game or something) →6
- I would be really grateful if we had time on doing the tasks. I know that we have a fixed schedule, but it's hard to prepare a project in 10 or 15 minutes. → 3
- It was good, I have no wishes.

- I wish we had an introday without lessons, just to get to know each other. → 3
- Maybe we want more time to work on our own project. Sometimes we need to work so fast and that was stressful. → 4
